The ensuing session will open on the 25th of the present month. The charges are: For tuition per session of nine months, $40 00

To those who do not board in college the charge for tuition is the same, and for the use of room. furniture, library, &c., $25 per session. There is an admission fee of $10, and a small charge each session for contingencies. Fuel and lights are furnished at cost, and washing at 37½ cents per dozen. The necessary college expenses of a boarding stu-dent will not exceed $180 or $190 per annum. All the bills are payable one half at the beginning, and the balance at the middle of the session. With a view of giving to the different depart-ments of instruction a wider extension, and at the same time of meeting a public want by rendering the advantage of the college available to a larger number and a more varied class of students, some important changes have been made in the order and arrangement of the students. A new course has been adopted, styled the Scientific Course, and the degree of Batchelor of Philosophy (B. P.) attached to it. It will occupy about three years, and will embrace all the studies of the regular course for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, with the ex ception of the ancient languages. This course will be specially adapted to those who wish to obtain what is called a practical education, as the mathematical and scientific studies will have greater prominence than usual, particularly in their application to the arts and business of life. Those who may wish to become practical surveyors, engineers, or agriculturists, will be enabled, with the advice of the faculty, to select their studies with special reference to those objects, and will receive the aid of lectures and illustrations. The doors of the College will also be opened to those who may wish, under its general regulations, to pursue any branch of study for any length of time. They may, under the direction of the faculty, select such sub-jects as are suited to their views and objects in life, and, on examination, may receive a regular certificate of their standing and proficiency in the DROSPECTUS OF THE UNITED States Illustrated.—Under the title of the the publication of a great national work, of a very costly and magnificent description, for which the liberal patronage of the American public is confidently expected. It will appear in parts with such promptitude that two volumes will be completed before the close of the present year. These volumes will be issued simultaneously, one being ex-clusively devoted to eastern and the other to western subjects. Each part will contain four steel engravings, from original drawings by eminent artists, representing either some remarkable view from the splendid landscape scenery of the country, or some public edifice, whose architectura auty or historical character entitles it to such memoration. mouth, below New Orleans. In a similar manner the volume of the eastern section will represent only such subjects from the sea-board States as are most striking and truly American.

But if excellence has thus been aimed at in the engravings, the literary department also will have every attention bestowed upon it. No expense has been spared to render the work in this respect also a national monument. Many of the best and propular, writers of the country were heared as popular writers of the country are engaged as regular contributors, and the editorial direction of the whole has been entrusted to the care of Mr. Charles A. Dana, whose name is a sufficient guarantee that the work will be one of solid ment, as well as of elegance and beauty. THE ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE OF Art.—The number published on the 1st of July, being the commencement of a new volume, affords an excellent opportunity for new subscribers to commence the work.

The numbers already published of the Illustrated The numbers already published of the Illustrated Magazine of Art have at once placed it at the head of the magazines or any publication of the day, and no expense will be spared to render it, in every respect, worthy of its name: a Magazine of Art. To render this mere strikingly apparent, the proprietor has determined to incorporate with "The Magazine of Art," the "History and Works of the Painters of all Nations." This splendid of the proprietor of a strike includes the special properties of various special pr or the Painters of all Nations." This splendid series includes biographical notices of various painters of celebrity, descriptive catalogues of their performances, and beautifully engraved copies of their chief works. The works of one painter will appear in each monthly part.

The engravings preparing for future numbers are in the hands of the first artists of America, England, France, and Germany. A series of tales of the most interesting description are in the course of publication, including "The School of Life," written and illustrated by Anna Mary, daughter of William and Mary Howitt, with engravings, from drawings made expressly by the authoress. Also, an historical novel, entitled "The Dead Bridal," illustrative of the most interesting period in the history of the Venitian repub-lic, by Jonathan Freke Slingsby, of the Dublin University Magazine; and contributions from William and Mary Howitt, Percy B. RAHAM'S MAGAZINE.—This number opens the second volume of Graham's Mag azine for 1853, and we cannot refrain from thank azine for 1833, and we cannot refrain from thank-ing most heartily both the press and our sub-scribers for the encouragement afforded us to persevere in elevating the literary and pictorial character of the work. The last volume embraced every variety of Magazine illustration, and has furnished to our readers papers of ability upon all the topics of interest which absorb the times, and also a series of articles of a purely literary char-acter of a higher order than have heretofore been found in the monthly Magazinos. It shall be our aim to improve Graham still further in these respects, and by careful attention and enterprise command the public approbation and support.

The New Volume—commencing with this number-will claim especial attention for the beauty of its pictorial illustrations. Ample arrangements have been entered into with competent artists to secure a proper variety of the very best of all kinds of engraving-steel, mezzotint, and wo to meet the expectations of our readers; and the literary department shall be still further improved

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE FOR '53.—The sphere and the utility of the ECLECTIC MAGAZINE have become too well defined to require explanation. Differing in aim from other magazines, and supplying a want which is widely and increasingly felt by a more educated and intelligent por on of the community, it fills a place which could be filled in no other method than by the principl of selection which it adopts. The great reviews and magazines of Great Britain and the Continent through which the leading minds of the age ar accustomed, almost exclusively, to express them selves, are too numerous to be reprinted, as wel as too costly to be imported by the general reader They contain, likewise, much, with their desirable articles, that has but a temporary or local interes and which is worth to the American reader neithe the price nor time required to peruse it. To select from the whole field of journalism all that is really valuable, both the graver dissertations and discus-sions of the reviews, and the lighter and more versatile contents of the magazines, is the pur-pose of the Echectic. The best parts of all are thus seeured, without the cost or incumbrance of of the ECLECTIC will continue to be compo the great and eloquent articles of the reviews while everything valuable or brilliant in all othe periodical issues, particularly of Great Britain, will be carefully presented. THE GLOBE:

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF CONGRESS, AND NEWSPAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.

It will be seen by the annexed extract from a letter of General Washington to David Stewart, dated New York, 17th March, 1790, that the idea of such a paper as I propose to make the Globe originated in the mind of the Father of his Country. He said:

He said:

"It is to be lamented that the editors of the different Gazettes in the Union do not more generally and more correctly (instead of stuffing their papers with scurrility and nonsensical declamation, which few would read if they were apprised of the contents) publish the debates in Congress on all great national questions. The principles upon which the difference of opinion arises, as well as the decisions, would then come fully before the public, and afford the best lata for its judgment."—Sparks's Writings of Wushington, of 10, p. 84.

THE DAILY GLOBE AND THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOB In surrendering my interest in the organ of a great political party, I cherished the purpose of continuing the Congressional Globe, and, if possible, in time, to perfect it into a full history of the action of Congress, giving the debates accurately and fully with the proceedings—all stamped with the verity of an official record. From the passage in the latter of General Warkington which the and fully with the proceedings—all stamped with the verity of an official record. From the passage in the letter of General Washington, which I have quoted, it will be perceived that he thought this office might be combined with that of a regular newspaper; and it is certain that the avidity of the public for news of the less important kind greatly contributes to give wing to the weightier matter which may be called Congressional news.

Having succeeded in my purpose of perfecting the reports of the debates in Congress and giving them the official stamp, I now propose to send them abroad, in connection with the news of the day, in such haste as shall outstrip full and accurate intelligence sent from the seat of Government rate intelligence sent from the seat of Government in any other form whatever. It will even antici-pate the scraps of news forwarded to cities within pate the scraps of news forwarded to cities within two hundred and fifty miles of Washington by telegraph. Before the events thus transmitted are published in the morning papers, (for instance, of the city of New York,) the Globe containing them will have reached the post office of that city by the Express Mail of the previous night. The process by which this will be effected I now lay before the public.

I will have a corps of sixteen Reporters in Con I will have a corps of sixteen Reporters in Congress; each in succession will take notes during five minutes, then retire, prepare them for the Press, put them slip by slip in the hands of compositors, and thus, while a debate is going on in Congress, it will be put in type, and in a few minutes after it is ended it will be in print. I shall by this means, be enabled to send by the Express Mail of 5 o'clock p. m. for the East, West, and North, and by that of 9 o'clock p. m. for the South, all the proceedings of Congress up to the ordinary SA. The miscellaneous news I shall be careful to gather from remote sections of the country by telegraph. I will obtain from the Executive Departments, through official sources, the matters of moment transacted in them, and through agents ment transacted in them, and through agents employed for the purpose, all the city news of consequence in sufficient time to be put into the Globe and mailed in the Express Mail trains. In this way I hope to create a new era in the dissemination of news from Washington. Hitherto no newspaper has attempted to give authentic accounts of things done at Washington before the public mind at a distance had received its first impressions form irresponsible telegraphic dispatches, or by at a distance had received its first impressions form irresponsible telegraphic dispatches, or by letter-writers biased by peculiar views.

Washington has now become so great a centre of political interest during all the year—the proceedings of the Executive Departments and the information collected by them even during the recess of Congress is of so much importance to the interests of every section of the country—that I shall continue the publication of the daily paper permanently, with a view to become the vehicle of the earliest and most correct intelligence. It is part of my plan to reduce the price of the daily paper to half that of similar daily papers; and thus I hope to extend its circulation so as to invite advertisements. I will publish advertisements of the Government. To subscribers in the cities hope to submit such terms as will induce them t advertise their business in every village through out the Union, where the Globe is sent daily under the franks of members of Congress, all of whom take it, and some of them a large number of copies The installation of a new Administration and a The installation of a new Administration and a new Congress portends much change in the course of public affairs as the result of the next session. Many vast interests which were brought up in the last Congress were laid over by the Democratic majority to await the action of a Democratic Executive. The new modeling of the tariff; the new land system; the question of giving homesteads, and making every man a freeholder who may choose to become one; the suproxymention of the choose to become one; the approximation of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by a national railroad across the territory of the Union; reform in the Army, Navy, and civil offices—all these great questions, with a thousand minor ones, deeply affecting multitudes of men and every State in the Union up for the Government's decision. These new issues, cooperating with old ones, coming up to be disposed of by sew actors on the scenes at Washington, will be apt to modify greatly, if not alter essentially the party organizations of the country. To these elements of interest another is likely to be introduced by the interposition of the agita-tions of Europe. After nearly forty years of peace in Europe there is an evident restlessness that now seems fraught with tendencies threatening war; and if war comes, in all likelihood there will follow such universal change that the United State can scarcely hope to escape its vortex. Indeed from late events it is apparent that our government is already drawn into European difficulties. These circumstances are calculated to draw the public mind towards the next Congress with much ex The DAILY GLOBE will be printed on fine paper double royal size, with small type, (brevier an nonpareil,) at five dollars a year.

The Congressional Globe will also be printed on a double royal sheet, in book form, royal quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE proper will be made up of the proceedings of Congress and the running debates as given by the Reporters. The speeches which members may choose to write out them selves will, together with the messages of the President of the United States, the reports of the President of the United States, the reports of the Executive Departments, and the laws passed by Congress, be added in an Appendix. Formerly I received subscriptions for the Congressional Globe and Appendix separately. But this has not been found satisfactory, inasmuch as it gave an incomplete view of the transactions in Congress; and therefore I have concluded not to sell them set consider the concluded not to sell them. them apart, considering that neighbors can have the advantage of both by clubbing, in case individuals shall find it too onerous to be at the charge of both. To facilitate the circulation of the Congress ional Globe, and cheapen it to subscribers, Congress passed last year a joint resolution making free of postage. I annex it, as the law may no be accessible to postmasters generally:

De accessible to postmasters generally:

Joint Resolution providing for the distribution of the Laws of Congress and the Debates thereon.

With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Congress and the debates contributing to the true interpretation thereof, and to make free the communication between the representative and constituent bodies:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the present season of Congress, the Congressional Globe and Appendix, which contains the laws and the debates thereon, shall pass free through the mails so long as the same shall be published by order of Congress: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to authorize the circulation of the Daily Globe free of postage.

Approved, August 6, 1852

As I sell the Daily Globe and High the price of

As I sell the DAILY GLOBE at half the price of similar publications, so the Congressional Globe and Appendix is sold for half the cost of so much composition, press-work, and paper. This I can afford to do, inasmuch as the subscription of Congress almost covers the cost of composition, and this enables me to sell for little more than the cost of press-work and paper. It requires the sale of about 9,000 copies to reimburse expenses. If 500 only were sold, the cost of each copy would be about $104! The debates in the English Parliament cost about eleven times as much as I charge subscribers for the debates in Congress, equal in quantity, and as well reported and printed.

The next session of Congress will be a long one; and it is believed the Congressional Globe for it will reach to Congressional one; and it is believed the Congressional Globe for it will reach 4,000 royal quarto pages, as the last long session made 3,842; and the long one before that made 3,901 royal quarto pages—four large volumes each session. If subscribers will be careful to file all the numbers received by them, I will supply any that may miscarry in the mails. This work increases in value as it grows old. The first seventeen volumes will now command three times, and some of the subsequent ones twice, their original subscription price.

The subscription price for the Congressional Globe (including the Appendix and the laws) is six dollars.
